

Instruments for Electrical Safety Testing ... Since 1936

March 19, 2008

Platford Corporation
26575 W. Commerce Dr.
Suite 613
Volo, IL 60073

To: Travis Weirsma

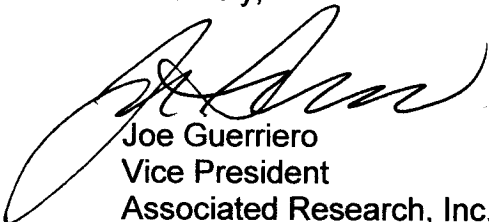

I wanted to send this letter to express my thanks and overall satisfaction with the way Platford and in particular you handled the recent expansion of our facility. Over the years I have had my share of bad experiences with general contractors ranging from them not keeping their word to just plain poor project management. It was a pleasure to not have to deal with any of these problems with your firm.

Of course with any project of this size there are always going to be things that need to be changed but I was pleased that we experienced very few of these issues. In addition, any problems we had were always handled fairly and thoroughly by Platford. The challenge of our project was that of coordinating the contractors around our people who needed to work in the facility while construction work was going on. I think this was handled very well and Platford showed a real understanding of our need to not disrupt our daily business activities.

I certainly will consider using Platford for any future work. Also, if I hear of anyone needing construction projects you can be sure I will be making very good recommendations of your organization.

Thank you for all your support and cooperation during our building expansion.

Sincerely,

Joe Guerriero
Vice President
Associated Research, Inc.